Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 02 September 2005.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

- 4) ☒ Claim(s) 29-48 is/are pending in the application.
- 4a) Of the above claim(s) _____ is/are withdrawn from consideration.

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's response to the restriction requirement, filed 9/2/05, has been received. Claims 29-48 will be considered as amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 29-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fisher (6,331,858) in view of Taylor (non-patent literature).

Fisher shows all of the limitations of the claims except for specifying, in response to a user, clicklessly positioning a cursor over an icon and an audio preview.

Fisher shows, figures 3 and 5, a display terminal user interface. Items 301-303 are optional consumer items (also previously selected options). Frame F1 has fabric samples (options associated with consumer item). Frame F2 provides a representation/model and a real-time preview representation of the consumer item updated with option in response to clicking an option marker icon. Finish options depend on the previously selected option on which item was chosen. Each item has a set of valid finish options (prevent selection of an option based on a previous option). Cost (attribute data, updated and capable of being statistically analyzed) is provided for each item. Column 6, lines 12-15, recites that the server may check that the combination of object and fabric is valid (based on current configuration or "update") before returning the texture data to the plug-in application. If the combination is not valid (unavailable), then a message to this effect is returned for display on the terminal (indication).

Taylor teaches the use of JavaScript's image rollovers (clicklessly) as an option to clicking in order to change images and links "on the fly".

Based on the teaching of Taylor, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to modify to Fisher system to use an image rollover technique instead on clicking on an icon in order to change images and links "on the fly".

Fisher does not teach the step of providing an audio preview. However, sound effects are common in the art, and applicant's disclosure of "sounds associated with the various payment and shipping options (such as an airplane sound for shipping by air)" (p.16, lines 23-25) is also common in the art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the step of providing an audio preview with the invention of Fisher to provide a further indication of the option being selected.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/6/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The rejection has been modified to explain how the prior art reads on the broadly recited new limitation. It should be noted that while the current prior art does meet the current limitations, the examiner believes that the "graying out" of invalid options on a GUI is very well known in that field. The examiner mentions this to dissuade applicant from pursuing this line of claim language.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
